GLADSTONE

Through the past five agonizing years the Gladiolus has held its place as King of Flowers and proven a profit-maker for growers, of either bulbs or cuts, who use good care with good bulbs of good varieties. With others the bitter lesson has too often been written in red ink: Cheap bulbs are usually the most expensive; varieties do become outmoded.

Herewith is a group of glads that numbers most of the finest and most-wanted of the glorious modern varieties. A few notes on some of the most outstanding kinds may be welcomed. Picardy, giant glowing flesh-pink, is one of today's best sellers and one of the world's finest glads. Ranking with it in giant size, charm, and general good habits, are Commander Koehl, brilliant deep scarlet-red, Solveig, purest white with small rose feather in throat, ruffled, very heavy petals, but needing high culture to do its best, and Blue Admiral, largest and finest of the deep blues.

Dr. W. H. Phipps, Mrs. Leon Douglas, Betty Nuthall are still foremost of the pink exhibition kinds and continue to win at most Shows. Pfitzer's Triumph, while not so tall as some other reds, has larger flowers than any, frequently six inches across. Aflame, a giant of the first order, with florets of distinctively different shape. Amador, one of the coming reds, is especially brilliant under artificial light and stands hot sun in the garden better than any other. The smokies are increasingly popular. Marmora stands third in the 1934 A.G.S. symposium. Mother Machree is not so sombre in tone, resembles more than anything else one of our famous Colorado sunsets. Janet is beautifully ruffled peach-pink smoky.

My cutflower sales last Summer were almost altogether of three varieties, Long-fellow, tall, strong, always straight, pure pink, Mr. Moody, rich lavender or orchid color, and Nancy Hanks, sparkling orange-pink, Gold Eagle is best of the early yellow glads and one of the earliest of all. Canberra, light yellow, is a new one of giant size, sometimes poorly placed. In the very popular lavenders, Minuet is usually taken as standard. Dr. Moody is practically identical - I grow both and like Moody better because it is a much better propagator. Jane Addams and Jubilee are much larger, real giants, but flowers are softer. Opalescent, tall light lavender with darker midrib on each petal, splendid substance. Mary Frey is very early, an improved Mrs. Peters, needs constant care to keep it healthy but very popular with both amateurs and florists. Visitors to the gardens liked Marokko, an unusual rich oriental tapestry, Pride of Wanakah, immense deep rose. Blue Danube is best of the light blues, Ave Maria of the mid-blues, combined with Kundred's Yellow Favorite, clear buff, makes a beautiful bouquet. An arrangement of Copper Bronze in a copper bowl or with tiger lilies in a large green basket is most striking.

GET WHAT YOU ORDER. Read again my guarantee on the front cover. I am very proud of the fact that in the past four years I have been called upon only once to replace bulbs. My bulbs are true to name, young, thrifty, clean, healthy, free of insects (including thrips) and will make you money, whether you want planting stock for growing on or larger bulbs for resale or for cutflowers.
